In witness whereof I set my hand this 8th day of September, A. D. 1880. JOHN S. WOOD, Registrar said ward.

Another Theory Busted.

A widow who was going to leave the city held an auction of her household effects yesterday, and everything that it was invested by bed bugs.

"Words cannot express the poig-nancy of my sorrow over the base point tree. Address H. Hallett & Co., Pertland, M. tion in this crowd. I have sold goods in this town for twenty-nine long years, and this is the first instance in which bugs are permitted to step between me and the purchasing public. Ladies and gentlemen, if there is a bug in or about that bedstead I want to see him. I cannot and will not believe there is. It would be a clander -a most foul slander on the character of this worthy widow, who is about to remove to the state of Ohio." Being invited to step down and view the bugs for himself, he made an

were galloping in and out and up and

Bedbugs were not made for gaudy show, nor were they made for gaudy show, nor were they nature that they should inhabit bedsteads. They can no more go out under the barn and make a living than a dog can become an esgle and float through space. The aversion among you to this insect is founded on false principles. His bite scarcely irritates the eleeper, but it cleanses and purifies the blood. But for the bedbugs of this country, we should all have boils and carbuncles. They keep down warts. San Franc'sco Cell

The board of state prison directors had a meeting a few evenings ago for the purpose of considering whether the letting of convict labor at San Quentin for less than one dollar per day to parties engaged in the tanning of hides, manufacturing of doors, making horse collars, furniture, etc., was in violation of provisions of section 25 of "An act to define, regulate and govern the state prisons of California, approved April 15, 1880," which "that after provides the passage of the act no skilled convict labor shall be let or contracted out at a price less than $1 per day for each convict." It was contended by the parties engaged in manufacturing at the prison that convicts were not skilled laborers, and were unable to make the entire piece upon which they worked, and that the constant watchfulness of skilled free

They finally decided to class as skilled laborers, first, those when they entered the prison were acknowledged mechanies, and second, those who had served an apprenticeship of one year in the prison shops. These classes should be known as skilled laborers, and the state should be paid at the rate of one dollar per day each for their services.
